Physics

There is always particular importance to a few chapters over the rest in NEET. Also, these few essential chapters can also help you to gain enough skills to face other sections.

Prioritizing these chapters is a good idea since that increases your chances of scoring higher. These chapters will ideally cover-up around 70% of the questions in NEET.

Here are the most important chapters for your Examination subject wise:

Physics

Kinematics

Laws of Motion

Gravitational Field Circular & rotational Motion

Electric Field and Current Electricity

Magnetic Field

Electromagnetic Induction & Alternating Current

Chemistry

States of Matter (especially gaseous state)

Thermodynamics

Chemical Equilibrium, Kinetics

Complete Organic Chemistry (This is the most scoring part)

Biology

Biological Classification

Genetics

Reproduction in Plants and Animals

Morphology of Plants

Structural Organization of Animals

Prioritizing

These chapters should be your preference. You should begin your training with these chapters to be on a safer side. Also, if you are little of time, i.e. towards the end of the year, you should study only these chapters to increase your chances of scoring higher. If you searched for this article, then you have already prioritised your preparation! Now it is the time to execute!
